In some countries the weather is generally warm. In other places on Earth, from January to December it is cold during the 12 months of the year.

There are countries which have very difficult kinds of weather during different times of the year. These are Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter and they are called seasons. In Spring, plants start growing again and trees get new leaves. After Spring, Summer comes. It's usually much hotter than Spring, and people can go swimming in the sea or in the lake, they can go hiking in the mountains or relax on the beach during their holidays.

Autumn comes after Summer. You can see many colors in the countryside and the air starts to become colder. It is sometimes windy, the leaves turn orange, brown and red, and they fall from the trees. Forests look beautiful and people like going for walks through them.

Then comes the last (or first!) part of the year, Winter. In this time of the year it is usually very cold. If it snows, everything turns white. You can also see ice on lakes, but there is no color in the fields and countryside now. People can go skating, sledging and skiing.
